ABSTRACT SUBMISSION GUIDELINE

1. An abstract should be word-processed and single-spaced, and provided in electronic form by email to submit@flelearning.co.uk
2. An abstract between 300 to 500 words, clearly summarising the arguments, should be submitted before deadline.
3. Final paper should be submitted for publication in International Law Journal on Trade, Business & Economics (ILJTBE) E-Journal before deadline (Optional).
4. The preferred length of paper (including footnotes) is 5,000 words (maximum limit). In general, please confine your paper between 10-12 pages, everything included.
5. Authors' autobiographical details should appear as the first footnote of each contribution, and include the name, academic and professional qualifications, institutional affiliation, current title and position of each author.
6. Acceptance to present paper DOES NOT guarantee publication in the ILJTBE E-Journal. Please be aware that your contribution will, if considered suitable for publication, be double-blind refereed. While our policy is to let authors know the decision by end of each conference, the referee process does take some time. If accepted, it will then be copy-edited, which also takes some time. These steps are necessary to ensure the high quality of the journal.
7. It is author's responsibility to ensure that all references and citations are correct, and that the contribution does not contain any material that infringes copyright, or is defamatory, obscene or otherwise unlawful or litigious.
8. Copyright in the article will remain jointly with the owner of the copyright and the Publisher. By submitting an article to the conference, the owner of the copyright grants the publisher with a license to publish the article. The author warrants that he is the owner of all rights of copyright in the article. Where the author subsequently publishes the article, the author is requested to acknowledge the article appeared in the conference proceedings.
9. The Author(s) will indemnify and defend the Publisher against any claim, demand or recovery against the Publisher by reason of any violation of any proprietary right or copyright, or because of any libellous or scandalous matter contained in the Manuscript.
10. The Publisher will have the right to edit the work for the original edition and for any revision, provided that the meaning of the text is not materially altered.
11. Contributions MUST conform to Harvard Citing and Referencing Style. In particular, and in accordance with the Style Guide, contributors are asked to follow these style requirements:
 - citation of sources should appear in both the body of your text (an in-text citation) and at the end of your work (a reference list).
 - the name of the author, publication year and the page numbers you have taken your material from should appear in the body of your work;
 - In the reference list, books should be cited as follows (example): Beetham, H. (2007) Retail economics. Abingdon: Routledge. Articles should be cited as follows (example): Bezemer, D. J. (2010) Understanding financial crisis through accounting models. Accounting, Organisation and Society, 35(7), 676-688.

I, the undersigned, have read understood and agree to the rules, guidelines, terms and conditions set out above. I confirm that to the best of my knowledge and belief, the information given on this form is current and complete.
